THE RECENT GALES.

A Fearful Marine Disaster—The "Evening Star" Foundered—Nearly 300 Lives Lost.

The steamship Evening Star, Captain Knapp, of the New York and New Orleans Mail Steamship Company's line of s eamers, left this port on the 29th ult. for New Orleans, with 250 passengers. A Savannah despatch, dated October 8, says that the Evening Star foundered at sea, 180 miles east of Tybee, with 259 passengers and 50 crew. Five of the crew and Frank Gerrard, a passenger, were saved.

A second despatch from Savannah says that the boat from the Evening Star arrived at Fernandina. It left the steamer with eighteen persons, including Captain Knapp, one lady, and a child. The boat was capsized nine times. At the sixth time the captain was lost. As the steamer Sylvan Shore left Fernandina a boat was reported to be coming in with the purser and engineer of the Evening Star.

Four boats left the steamer as she sunk. The other two are supposed to have been swamped. The schooner S. J. Waring, from New York to Apalachicola, put in in distress, having thrown overboard part of her deck load. The Waring brought the Chief Engineer, the Purser, two passengers, and six of the crew of the Evening Star, picked up at sea. We have no further particulars. The date of the disaster is not given. The following are the names of the cabin passengers:—

General H. C. Palfrey, lady, child, and servant; Miss Palfrey and Miss Sloo; Mrs. E. A. Van Sickle, Mrs J. T. Mason, Frank R. Dennis, Mr. Haberow, Mr. Rockwell, John Touro, Mrs. John J. BISMARK'S THANKS FOR AMERICAN SYMPATHY.

The following is Count Bismark's letter to Minister Wright, acknowledging the receipt of a cargo of some twenty-five tons of ice, contributed by the Americans at Hamburg for the Prussian hospitals, at a time when it could not be obtained in Germany:—

"BERLIN, August 9.—Dear Sir:—From the inclosed letters you have been good enough to communicate to me, I see the contributors to the munificent donation of ice which has been sent successively from Hamburg for our hospitals include a considerable number of your countrymen. The War Office has already conveyed to the Committee the thanks of his Majesty's Government for the patriotic feeling which prompted the gift, and for the inestimable benefit conferred upon our wounded soldiers. It becomes now my pleasant duty to add the expression of my sentiments of deep gratification at the active sympathy evinced by citizens of the United States with our struggle, which, undertaken for the defense of our homes, will, under God's blessing, secure the condition to Germany of national life and to Europe of lasting peace.

"Believe me, dear sir, yours, very sincerely,
"BISMARK.

"Joseph A. Wright, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States."

GENERAL GRANT'S OPINION.

General Grant on Copperheads—He Urges the Election of General Geary.

WASHINGTON, October 8.—A very prominent Pennsylvania politician, who called upon General Grant to-day, and had a conversation with him, states that the General was very frank in expressing his dislike to such Copperheads as Clymer, and was equally open in wishing General Geary's election as Governor of Pennsylvania. He states that the General reiterates his former statement that any soldier who votes for a Copperhead, such as Heister Clymer, will disgrace himself.

Mr. Beecher to Come Before the People.

A correspondent of the Brooklyn Union yesterday afternoon makes the following announcement:—

"The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher will speak in this city next week, making an argument and appeal, from his own grounds, in favor of the Republican party in the pending elections."

"JOHN," THE NEXT SOCIAL PROBLEM.—A San Francisco correspondent, writing on the subject of immigration to the State of California, thinks that the next social problem will be the status of the Chinese. In a few months or years he will cross the Rocky Mountain, and begin to fill up the valley of the Mississippi. As soon as the Pacific Railroad is completed the path will be open to him. Millions can be accommodated in the mines on the Pacific coast; but the South, with its fields of cotton, rice, and sugar, is the proper place for them, and as she is now prostrated by the ravages of war and the effects of famine, they are needed to recuperate her exhausted energies. Soon the "negro question" will be lost in the "Chinese question," and then will come up the perplexing problem of his status in the community, his contracts, and his privileges. On the 1st of January, 1867, the Colorado, a pioneer of a new line between San Francisco and China, will commence her trips, and every arrival will bring from one thousand to fifteen hundred to that port. Capitalists are already discussing the question of contracting with Chinese companies for immense numbers of them to cultivate to cultivate the cotton fields of the South for a term of years, at a much cheaper rate than negro labor can be obtained. Soon the rivalry between the Chinaman and the negro will commence.

GENERAL BANKS ON THE STUMP.

Speech of the General at Charlestown—He Explains His Action in Congress—The Increase in the Pay of Congressmen Only Equalization of Mileage—The President a Usurper, Etc.

BOSTON, October 8.—General Banks has taken the stump in the district which he represented in the last session of Congress—the Sixth District. He made his first speech in Charlestown, the principal city in his district, this evening, before a very large audience. His speech was quite long and somewhat heavy. In the first part he told his constituents what part he had taken in the recent Congress, and how much he had tried to represent them with ability and with truth.

Speaking of the part he had taken in the question of raising the pay of members of Congress, he said this increase of compensation of members is not an increase of pay, but it is an equalization of mileage. One gentleman who sat near me in the house received $9000 or $10,000, while I only got $3500, or thereabouts; and those Representatives from the Atlantic States received a similar amount. Now, I ask, what justice is there in one Representative receiving ten thousand and the other three thousand? This gentleman that I have referred to was a man of vast wealth. I was not. He had no family. I had one here that I was bound to support. He made no speeches. I, I must confess, made many. It cost him nothing to print. It cost me about $200 each to print mine.

The pay of each member is the same, but in ancient times travel was difficult, and in addition to the pay forty cents a mile was allowed each, and thus a member from the Pacific coast received several thousand dollars more than one from the Atlantic coast. Now the only proper way to remedy this was to equalize the mileage. It was necessary to do that at once, so that when the Rebel States should return to participate in the Government of the nation—and by their good conduct, or by the face we shall put upon them, they shall return some time—this question shall be settled. The General, in further excusing himself, said he did not take part in the movement nor assume the responsibility of it until it came up in connection with the subject of the equalization of bounties. He then determined that whatever would be the consequence he would see that the soldiers had a recognition of their claims.

The equalization of mileage, as caused by the recent act of Congress, gives to the representatives from the Atlantic and Pacific coast the same compensation, without taking one dollar more from the treasury than was taken to pay members under the old system. In this connection General Banks said that he understood that one of his New York friends, a member of the last Congress, had come out with a card, stating that at the next session he would offer a bill to repeal the one adopted last year on the subject of members' pay. He (General Banks) would vote for and perhaps introduce a bill to reduce the mileage to ten cents a mile. After speaking of the labor question, and predicting that the next Congress would satisfy the working men, the General launched out into a discussion of the topics of the day.

He alluded to the manner in which the President had disappointed the party that elected him, and to the issue between the Executive and Congress. He defended Congress, of course; denied that it had ever made a radical declaration or had shown that it intended to force negro suffrage on the South. He believed that in the amendment to the Constitution is the only safety for the nation. The provisions of this amendment are well known to all. Now, who opposes this? The President of the United States. What is his theory? That which has been expressed by the declaration of the Philadelphia Convention, and has been declared in the very many speeches of the President on his recent remarkable tour—that these States have the right to representation, and we have no right to keep them out, now that peace is declared.

When they were fighting us they had no rights; when they were beating us they had no rights; now that we have beaten them they come into the enjoyment of full and complete rights. This is the doctrine of the President and those who support him. It should be remembered, the General continued, that the Executive has the power to administer the principles of the Government, but not to make them. The declaration of opinion belongs to Congress, not to the President. Congress has no executive power, no administrative power. All it has to do is to declare the principles by which it thinks the Government ought to be administered. Congress has been charged with usurpation. Now, a body of men rarely usurp power.

The usurpers have been a single individual; but what does Congress say? Does it say that its principles shall become law? No; it says, refer these principles to the people. What says the President? He does not refer to the people. He declares that representation rests on the Constitution. He makes his interpretation a finality, which is usurpation.

In conclusion, General Banks referred to the victories of the Republicans in Maine and Vermont, and said that they had wonderfully changed public opinion. The New York papers had marvellously altered their tunes. After the returns had come from Pennsylvania and the Western States he would not be surprised to hear that the News had engaged Thad. Stevens as a contributor, and that the Express had made overtures to Fred Douglass to become its assistant editor.

THE ARMY.

Reported Appointments in the New Regiments—Muster Out Suspended—Resignation of Lieutenant Beecher.

From the Washington Chronicle, October 8.

The following appointments in the new regular regiments authorized by the Army bill passed at the late session of Congress are reported to have been made:—

Colonels of Cavalry—A. J Smith, 7th; Ed. Hatch, 9th; B. H. Grierson, 10th.

Lieutenant-Colonels of Cavalry—G. A. Custer, 7th; T. C. Devin, 8th; C. C. Walcott, 9th.

Majors of Cavalry—Alfred Gibbs, 7th; J. F. Wade, 9th; G. A. Forsyth, 10th.

Cavalry—Not yet Gazetted—William Redwood Price, Major 8th Regiment; James W. Forsyth, Major 9th Regiment; Hiram Schofield, Major 10th Regiment.

Colonels of Infantry—D. S. Stanley, 22d; A. C. Gillam, 24th; J. J. Reynolds, 26th; C. H. Smith, 28th; O. B. Wilcox, 29th; J. D. Stevenson, 30th; Regis de Trobriand, 31st; T. H. Ruger, 33d; Charles Griffin, 35th; J. A. Mower, 39th; N. A. Miles, 40th; Daniel E. Sickles, 42d; J. C. Robinson, 43d; T. G. Pitcher, 44th; Wager Swayne, 45th.

The 39th and 40th are colored regiments, and the four last named are Veteran Reserve Corps regiments.

Lieutenant-Colonels of Infantry—Emory Upton, 25th; R. B. Ayres, 28th; J. H. Potter, 30th; C. R. Woods, 33d; A. V. Kautz, 34th; E. W. Hinks, 40th; J. B. McIntosh, 43d; G. A. Woodward, 45th.

Majors of Infantry—H. C. Merriam, 38th; T. G. Rodenbaugh, 42d; M. D. Hardin, 43d; R. L. Kilpatrick, 44th; and probably P. B. Runkle, 45th;—Compton (colored), 40th. It is also said that the following named officers have been commissioned Colonels of infantry:—Gordon Granger, George Stoneman Hazen, Fred. Steele, John Gibbs, Jeff. C. Davis, and John F. Hartranft.

The Secretary of War has directed Major-General D. E. Sickles to suspend the muster-out of Brevet Brigadier General Charles H. Howard, Colonel of the 128th United States Colored Troops, and Brevet Major A. P. Ketchum, Captain in the same regiment. General Howard is now on duty as Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau for the District of Columbia, and Major Ketchum is Assistant Adjutant-General on the staff of Major-General O. O. Howard, Commissioner of the Bureau.

First Lieutenant H. B. Beecher, son of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, has resigned his commission in the 4th Regiment, regular army.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

It is Completed to within Three Miles of Fort Riley.

TOPEKA, Kansas, October 8.—The United States Commission on Saturday last made an examination of the Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, to the one hundred and thirtieth mile-post. The track is laid within three miles of Fort Riley. The road will be completed in three or four days, and will reach Junction City, 2½ miles west of Riley, on the 15th instant.

CANADA.

TORONTO, C. W., October 8.—The Court Assize which tries the Fenians opened to-day, Justice John Wilson presiding. The Judge's charges were lengthy and interesting, commenting on the feelings of Irishmen and Americans towards Great Britain. Other cases were first disposed of, and it is thought that the trial of the Fenians will commence next Monday.

ELECTION INTELLIGENCE.

VERMONT.

MEETING OF THE LEGISLATURE—THE PROBABLE UNITED STATES SENATORS.

VERGENNES, Vt., October 8.—The Vermont Legislature meets on Wednesday next. Hon. J. W. Stewart will be unanimously re-elected Speaker. Two United States Senators are to be chosen. Hon. J. S. Morrell, member of Congress, will have no competitors for one of the vacancies in the Senate, but for the other, Hon George F. Edmonds, conservative Republican, will find a formidable one in the person of General Underwood, radical Sumner Republican.

THE CANVASS FOR CONGRESS IN THE THIRD DISTRICT AND FOR U. S. SENATOR.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., October 8.—A convention is called by some Republicans of the Third District of Vermont to nominate a conservative candidate who can gain enough Democratic votes to defeat the radical candidate, the Hon. P. Baxter, M. C. The Hon. George F. Edmonds will find a formidable opposition to his election as United States Senator, as his political sagacity is doubted. His speeches in the Senate on the habeas corpus bill were distasteful to Vermont. The praise he won from Copperheads was unfortunate, for he is doubtless a true Republican. The Hon. Levi Underwood and the Hon Fred. E. Woodbridge, M. C., are talked of for the place. In both men Vermont places the fullest confidence. The Vermont Legislature meets next Wednesday. A lively time may be expected. The Hon. J. S. Morrill, M. C., will be unanimously elected Senator for the long term.

NEW JERSEY.

THE HON. ROBERT GILCHRIST ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION FOR CONGRESS FROM THE FIFTH DISTRICT—GENERAL E. R. V. WRIGHT WITHDRAWS.

The difficulties originating in the Democratic Convention held at Hoboken on Thursday last, have been satisfactorily adjusted. General E. R. V. Wright withdraws all claim to the nomination, and the Hon. Robert Gilchrist, who was the choice of the Convention by a majority of nine votes, accepts. General Wright, it is understood, will fully support the new candidate both by his voice and vote.

TENNESSEE.

Judge J. S. Brien (Copperhead), in the election of Representative to the Tennessee Legislature in the Nashville District, beat the radical candidate, Dicky, by 1329 votes. The number polled was 2373. The election was held for the purpose of filling one of the vacancies caused by the expulsion of members from the Legislature during the excitement attending the ratification of the Constitutional amendment.

SANTA ANNA AND THE FENIANS.

Fenian Pic-nic at Pavillion Hill, Staten Island—Speeches by General Santa Anna, President Roberts, General Spear, and Colonel J. W. Meehan.

There was a Fenian demonstration yesterday at Pavilion Hill, near Quarantine Landing, Staten Island. The attendance was rather slim, notwithstanding it was announced on the posters that General Santa Anna and President Roberts would address the meeting. The day was all that could be desired, and the picturesque scenery added to the zest of the enjoyment.

There was a fine brass band in attendance, discoursing the various Irish airs. Dancing was kept up until 4 o'clock, the platform being quite crowded with the fair sex. Late in the afternoon a carriage was seen ascending the hill, the occupants of which were found to be General Santa Anna and staff. As they alighted at the Pavilion they were received with enthusiastic cheers. His staff consisted of General Canceio, Colonel Vivas, and Colonel Lopez De Santa Anna, the General's nephew, and Mr. Morrison, his interpreter.

General Santa Anna was dressed in the uniform of a Mexican General, and on his breast were several medals of gold and silver. The General was welcomed in a neat speech by President Roberts, who remarked that the General was the Napoleon of America.

SPEECH OF SANTA ANNA.

The noted Mexican leader said:—

Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Fenian Brotherhood:—If ever I regretted the want of the knowledge of the English language, it is at the present moment, when I would wish to express to you in your own tongue the heartfelt gratitude that I now experience. Various are the honors that have been bestowed upon me during my life by my own countrymen as well as by the foreign powers of Europe. Yet they were always conferred upon me when I was in power, and men that are in power are always surrounded by many flatterers, by many adulators, but by very few friends.

Yet to-day an exile from my native soil, a stranger in a foreign land, the smallest attention shown to me therein the smallest consideration in my favor, is most highly appreciated; for now I am not in power, and my thanks are, therefore, unbounded. Yet it would be presumption on my part if I should accept this demonstration as a personal thing, to my own self. No! I accept this demonstration in behalf of my native land—of Mexico; and, let me confess it, it is no surprise to me, and I may say I almost expected it; for the Irish are the people who should, as by natural ties, sympathize with Mexico. Is not its religion that of my own country? Do we not worship at the same altar? Are not we, like their own people, striving to free our native land from its yoke?—and why show that universal astonishment that the Fenians should contribute to aid Mexico in becoming once more free from foreign tyranny? And it is not for the first time your people have extended me their friendly help.

When Mexico was invaded by that noble enemy on whose hospitable soil I am now living, where I had arrayed against me the powerful armies of the United States, under that immortal hero, General Scott, the flower of my army then were two companies of men from the Green Isle, and who bore on their flag the image of their patron saint. Why, then, be astonished that they now come forward to my aid. Now, like the first time when Mexico was freed from the dominion of Spain, and when life only commenced with me, I had the glory of being one of the soldiers who fought for Mexico's independence. Why not aid me now, now when I am the last surviving soldier of my country's independence? I wish to seal the history of my life by the same act by which I commenced it—namely, to secure again for my country its independence. Yes, gentlemen, this is my ambition; this is what I strive to accomplish in a far land and in my last days. If death has spared me on the battle-fields, when from amid the shower of balls and fire I have come out unharmed, this, I say, was not without a cause. I feel assured that I will, that I must, that I shall secure once more to my native land its independence. It is not a false or vain ambition that makes me speak thus. In the few days that are allotted to me I have all that man can want to make his life tranquil and peaceful. There are no honor that a nation can bestow upon its most favored one that has not been showered upon me by Mexico.

Why, then, suppose for a moment that all my desire is to rule again over the destinies of my country? Twelve years I have withdrawn from public life on foreign soil, deploring the disturbances of my country, yet not joining in its domestic quarrels. I could not remain silent and see the last fatal blow struck at my country's independence. They thought my old sword rusted; they thought the old soldier worn out; they tried to brand him with infamy, calling me a French spy. These imputations and slanders give new life to the old soldier. My deeds will defend me; my voice is yet of some prestige among my countrymen, and my arms strong enough to lead an army.

To gain or to perish is my motto, with help or without it. I shall soon again stand on America's soil bearing aloft that banner that I planted on the walls of Vera Cruz when I drove the French from my land in '39. My voice shall now as then be strong enough to raise from the dead. My former companions will almost rise from their graves. They will help me to free Mexico again or will drag me down to deplore with them the ruin of my country.—New York Tribune.

CARLO PATTI.—It gives us great pleasure to note the arrival at New Orleans of Signor Carlo Patti, who comes to take the lead of the Varieties orchestra for the approaching theatrical season. Signor Patti needs no introduction to the people of New Orleans. He was a favorite here in ante bellum times, and well remembered by our citizens as a composer, violinist, and orchestra leader of rare merit. He is a brother, as is generally known, of the world-renowned cantatrice, Adelina Patti.—New Orleans Times, September 25.

[It is alleged that Miss Effie Germon, now in this city, is about to apply for a divorce from Carlo in our courts.]

LETTER FROM BALTIMORE.

Meeting of the Plenary Council of the Roman Catholic Church—Imposing Procession—Great Crowds—Crosses—Music—Political Affairs, Etc.

[EVENING TELEGRAPH SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BALTIMORE, October 7, 1866.

This was a grand and important day with our citizens attached to the Roman Catholic Church. The Plenary Council, the second of its kind ever held in this country, commenced its sessions to-day at the Cathedral, on North Charles street. There is a very full attendance of delegates, consisting of archbishops, priests, etc. The procession, composed of the bishops aforesaid, and other ecclesiastical dignitaries, started from the Archbishop's palace about half-past 10 o'clock, and moved slowly and solemnly round through Mulberry and Cathedral streets to the Cathedral door, where the members entered two and two. An appropriate chant was kept up as the procession moved onwards. The bishops were all richly costumed in their pontifical robes. Gold and silver ornaments, crosses, etc., were borne aloft, all glittering in the sunlight. The crowd of spectators assembled in the different contiguous streets was immense. Not less than fifteen to twenty thousand persons were present. Windows and doors of houses were filled, and many roofs covered with those anxious to see. Hundreds climbed up and took positions on trees, that they might be enabled to get a view. The Cathedral was filled to its utmost capacity, whilst thousands lingered outside unable to gain admittance. The ceremonies were of a special order for the occasion, peculiarly solemn and imposing. A large number of persons, generally Catholics, were in attendance from New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and the surrounding country. After service in the Cathedral had been closed, the procession again marched back to the Bishop's palace. The music was grand, there having been attached to the choir several distinguished artists and professors, engaged especially for this occasion. The Council will continue in session for several days, probably two weeks or more, during which time service will be held regularly in the Cathedral, morning and evening.

Political affairs are running up to high-water mark. I have never seen greater excitement. The bullies on both sides are being educated to do dirty work, and I fear a good deal of fighting. The municipal election for Mayor and members of the City Council takes place on Wednesday next. The Registry law does not apply on that occasion. Hence all constitutional citizens as to residence, naturalization, etc., will be allowed to vote, provided the judges will receive their votes. If the voting be general, a close contest is expected between Chapman and Harvey, the two Mayoralty candidates. The chances now seem rather in favor of Chapman. Both, however, are undoubted Union men.

A general impression prevails that there will be rough times on Wednesday. It is hoped, however, that these apprehensions may proved groundless.

Some five or six deaths have occurred from cholera in the past few days. The Health Commissioners only report the deaths, omitting the cases. But little alarm exists. There are no outward indications of sickness. The weather is very favorable, and adverse to the spread of epidemics.

Doctor Stokes, an eminent physician of our city, died yesterday, not, however, of cholera. He was well known and highly esteemed.

Mr. H. Rives Pollard is again in our city. He has had a writ of replevin issued against a certain female in Baltimore to recover a pol-parrot and cage, which he alleges is his property. He has, therefore, gone a-gunning now for parrots. BONO.

Indians Impeding Travel to Montana—Failure of a Banking-House—The State Fair.

LEAVENWORTH, October 8.—Reports from Montana says that "the trains arrived after a continuous series of battles with the Indians; the new bridger's road cut off was only about 500 miles, when it is over 800 miles; some of the roads were impassable; and the whole route is infested with Indians. We thought it an impossibility to get through, and had to fight our way through.

We had plenty of game, such as buffalo, bear, antelope, deer, prairie chickens, and trout. Montana streams are full of the latter. There is no place between Fort Reno and Virginia where news can be sent. Did not meet a single man returning over the road. There will never be any more travel on that road until the Government takes care of the Indians. It is the shortest route. There is firewood, water, and game, but the Indians wont let you use them.

The banking-house of E. H. Gruber & Co. has failed, with liabilities of about $250,000 and assets of $75,000. It owes depositors $95,000. There is much excitement, as the loss falls on the poorer class.

The grasshoppers have almost disappeared. The State Fair was a great success, as far as fruit, grapes, and stock.

An Item for Mr Peter Magnus.—By a singular coincidence, the summer of 1766 exactly resembled that of the present year. Lord Chesterfield, writing to his son on the 1st of August, 1766, said:—"There has been no summer so wet as this within the memory of man; since March we have not had one single day without rain."

A Village Burned.—The village of Vadjams (France), a commune of eight hundred inhabitants, has been almost totally destroyed by a conflagration, kindled, it was supposed, by a child playing with lucifer matches in a barn. Out of thirty-four houses, of which the village was composed, seven only remain.

Earthquake in Turkey.—Two slight shocks of earthquake were felt at Constantinople on the evening of the 31st of August. Accounts have been received from several provinces of the empire announcing similar occurrences.

—There is "something new under the Sun" after all. What do you think of a "Mother and Infant reception?" One of these novel and now fashionable receptions took place on Thursday last. The young wife of one of our distinguished lawyers invited her lady friends to see her beautiful infant when it reached the advanced age of four weeks. The rosy-looking baby was attired in a beautiful dress of lace, sleeves looped with gold, and a broad blue sash around its virgin waist. The mother wore an elegant French gown of deep lavender, made in broad plaits at the back, and floated from the neck in a long train. Broad lavender ribbons were fastened on each shoulder, brought down to the waist, and finished with a bow and long ends. The point of the robe opened over a skirt of cambric, tucked with cluny between each tuck and lined with lavender; lavender gloves, and same colored ribbons on her hair, completed a most distinguished toilet. The reception was from 2 until 4 o'clock, and during those hours the street in front of the house was lined with elegant carriages. Benoiton was in the ascendant. Fair forms floated from the carriages, dressed in the latest style. Bonnets, which looked like head-dresses, basques deep pointed, shawls of lace and cashmere, dresses of moire and corded silk, and diamonds, lent their richness for the occasion. The perfume of the sweetest flowers filled the rooms, and the ladies gloried in enjoying themselves all the more within, when the nearest pair of pantaloons was on the coachbox outside. The conversation was especially unique. The reception was not even profaned by a man waiter appearing. Many rich presents were given to the unconscious little cherub, on whose account so much fuss had been made. Even the invitations were novel:

> MRS. H——, S. W——, AND DAUGHTER,
> At Home,
> Thursday, October 4th,
> From 2 until 4 o'clock. No — W—— St.

THIRD EDITION

FROM BALTIMORE TO-DAY.

Opinion of Reverdy Johnson—Radical Parade To-Night—A Flag Torn Down—Fears of a Riot, Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

BALTIMORE, October 9.—Political excitement runs high here. Hon. Reverdy Johnson publishes another opinion to-day, totally adverse to that of Attorney-General Stanbery, maintaining that all constitutional voters have a right to vote to-morrow at the municipal election, regardless of the registry law.

The Unconditional Unionists intend having a grand procession to-night, with transparencies, on which they purpose placing numbers of the majorities in Pennsylvania as they come in by telgraph.

Just now a party of drunken rowdies went to the headquarters of the Conservative Union party, corner of North and Baltimore streets, and tore down the American flag and carried it away. It is believed this will create a great difficulty. The excitement now is intense.

From Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, October 9.—Some excitement occurred to-day at the corner of Baltimore and North streets, occasioned by an attack on the Democratic headquarters, made, as is alleged, by members of the Republican party.

The flag suspended in front of the building was cut down, and for a time there was apprehensions of a serious difficulty. The police interfered, and compelled the return of the flag to its position.

Last night the conservatives made an attack upon the Republicans in the eastern section of the city, which resulted in a fierce fight, during which John Gately, of the attacking party, received three bullets in his body. Other parties were slightly injured.

ANOTHER WRECK.

The Steamer "Andrew Johnson" Ashore.

FORTRESS MONROE, October 9.—The steamer Andrew Johnson, from New York for Charleston, S. C., is ashore on Currituck Beach, North Carolina. The passengers lost some of their baggage, but they were safely landed, and have arrived at Norfolk. The steamer was formerly in the Government service, and was known as the Georgia. It is thought that she will be got off.

Wagers on the Pennsylvania Election.

WASHINGTON, October 9.—The elections which take place to-day in several of the States have not been without their excitement here, and a large amount of money will change hands after the result is ascertained. The betting is principally upon the result in Pennsylvania, and yesterday a wager of $5000 was made upon Geary's majority for Governor. This was one of the highest bets made, but sums ranging from $50 to $500 have been freely put up.

Markets by Telegraph.

NEW YORK, October 9.—Cotton dull at 37@39c. Flour declined 15@20c; sales of 7000 barrels at $8@$12 for State; Ohio, $9 90@13·75; Western, $8@11·25; Southern, $12@16·50. Wheat declined 1@2c. for white; sales unimportant. Corn dull; sales of 36 000 bushels at 93c. Beef quiet. Pork heavy, at $33 for mess. Lard unchanged. Whisky steady.

THE ELECTION—A "FORCIBLE" ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF CLYMER.—In the course of his morning tour around the Fourth Ward, our reporter found himself at the Seventh Division House, Seventh street, above Shippen. While there a little tragedy was enacted, for the amusement of the "unterrified" crowd round about.

A resident of the First Ward escorted to the polls a friend of his who resided in the "Bloody Fourth," for whose identity he wished to vouch. Standing hard by, and on the eager look-out for a divertissement, was a corpulent individual, with an immense placard pinned to his garments, announcing to all who had any curiosity concerning his political status, that he considered a white man far superior to any "nigger" going.

This corpulent individual planted his fist in the stomach of the patriot from the First Ward, knocking him off the stey, and off his legs as well. Thereupon an appeal was carried before the policeman standing by, but the only satisfaction obtained was the assurance that no one who did not reside in the Ward had a right to bring a man up to the polls.

A WOMAN CUTS THE THROATS OF FOUR OF HER CHILDREN.—On the 4th inst., the wife of Robert Simmes, a farmer in Lenonie county, Mich., took her four children into a barn and cut their throats with a razor, and then cut her own throat with the same instrument. The mother and three of the children are dead, and the fourth one cannot recover. The woman is believed to have been insane.

DEATH OF A BROTHER OF CHARLES DICKENS.—Augustus N. Dickens, a brother of Charles Dickens, the famous novelist, died in Chicago on Friday, aged thirty-nine years. Mr. Dickens has been many years employed in the Land Department of Illinois. He possessed to a considerable extent the peculiar talent of his famous brother, and was highly respected by all who knew him.

—The New York Tribune this morning says:—"Money on call has been more active under the fluctuations in stocks, but accounts are made up with great ease at low rates. At 4@5 per cent. the supply is far in excess of the wants of the street. In commercial paper no change. Best sells at 5 per cent., and good at 5½@6 per cent. The supply of money at the close of business was large, and holders reported more difficulty in placing their balances. The bank statement shows no material alteration beyond a loss of $2,486,000 of legal tenders, which has been sent West."

—At New Orleans on the 2d inst. foreign exchange was quiet by firm. Supplied were limited, and the demand little better than nominal. Sterling was quoted at 149 for bills of lading, and 152@154 for A1 to first-class, and 156@157 for bank; and francs at 3·67½ for A1 commercial, and 3·60 for bank. In domestic exchange the banks checked on New York at ¼ per cent. discount, at which they drew to a fair extent.

Philadelphia Trade Report.

TUESDAY, October 9.—Business has mostly been suspended to-day by the election, and the attendance at the Corn Exchange was extremely slim.

There is no change in Quercitron Bark. We quote No. 1 at $35 ℔ ton.

Cloverseed is unchanged. Small sales of new crop at $7·50@8. Timothy sold at $6 50 from first hands, and at $4 from second hands. Flaxseed cannot be quoted over $3·20@3·25.

The Flour Market is fair, but there is not much doing, the demand being confined entirely to the wants of the home consumers. Sales of 1000 bbls. at $12 50@13·50 ℔ bbl. for Northwestern extra family; $13@14 for Pennsylvania and Ohio do. do.; $10@12 for extras, and $8@8 50 for superfine.

Rye Flour is firm, at $6·75. In Corn Meal nothing doing to fix quotations.

There is very little Wheat here, and it is held firmly. Small sales of good and choice red at $3@3 10 ℔ bush.; in white nothing doing. Corn is very dull, and lower. Sales of 100 bush. yellow at $1 04@1 06; and 2500 bush. Western high mixed at $1·06, afloat. Oats are lower; 1800 bush. Southern sold at 57c. In Barley and Malt nothing doing.

Whisky is quiet. Small sales of Pennsylvania at $2·38@2 40, and Ohio at $2 42@2 43.

The State Elections of To-day—President Johnson's Future Policy Foreshadowed.

From the Herald.

Pennsylvania to-day elects a Governor, a Legislature in part, and twenty-four members of Congress; Ohio elects a Secretary of State and some other States officers, and nineteen members of Congress; Indiana elects State officers, a Legislature, and eleven members of Congress; and Iowa elects minor State officers, District Judges, and six members of Congress. In all, there are sixty members of the national House of Representatives to be elected; and if in these elections the Republicans hold their own, or anything near it, the issue between the President's plan of Southern restoration and the plan of Congress may be accepted as determined in favor of the pending Constitutional amendment, which embodies the ultimatum of Congress.

In Pennsylvania in 1864 Governor Curtin's majority was a little over fifteen thousand—a majority upon which sixteen out of the twenty-four members of Congress were carried by the Republicans. Last year, upon a considerably reduced popular vote, the Republican majority was twenty-two thousand. General Geary, it is supposed, will at least, upon a full vote, hold this majority, and the indications are that the Republicans will maintain their list of Congressmen, although two or three districts are exceedingly close. There are also two or three very close districts in Ohio; and if the dominant party carry seventeen of the nineteen in all, as they now hold them in Congress, they will do better than is generally expected. The same may be said if they carry eight of the eleven Congressional districts of Indiana, as they did in 1864. It is most probable, on the other hand, that the whole Iowa delegation will be maintained without a fracture.

We anticipate, at all events, from these elections for the Fortieth Congress a popular verdict in favor of the constitutional plans of restoration of the Thirty-ninth Congress which will be decisive. All the signs of the times, from Pennsylvania to Iowa, point to this result. The popularity of the Consititutional amendment is the most conspicuous feature of this political campaign throughout the North. It has revived much of the enthusiasm and activity on the Republican side which carried so irresistibly the war platform of Lincoln and Johnson against the peace platform of the Chicago shent-per-shent Convention. In fact, with the failure of the Philadelphia last August Convention to organize a new national party from the conservative Republicans and the remains of the old broken down Democratic party, these fall elections are but a repetition of those between the Union war party of the war and the Copperhead peace party; and we therefore look for the same results, with the impression that this time this obnoxious peace-at-any-price rump of the old Democratic party will be killed as dead as the old Whig party, or the Know-Nothing faction, or the anti-Mason faction, or the old anti-war Federal party of 1812, or Julius Cæsar.

Now it appears that, carefully consulting the current manifestations of Northern public opinion and the signs of the times in regard to these impending elections, President Johnson, desirous of conforming his policy to the will of the people, awaits the general result. A special correspondent at Washington says:—"The indications gathering in the political horizon here point to radical triumphs throughout the North, in which event the President will say to the Southern States and the world—'I have submitted my plan to the people, and, so far as the people have had opportunity to act upon it, their verdict has been in favor of the proposed Constitutional amendment. Under the circumstances, the best advice I can give is that you (the Southern States) adopt the amendment, in order that you may be restored to the Union, so that all the people (that is, all the States represented in Congress) may consult upon the future of our great country.'" This, we are assured from a witness who ought to know, is what the President says in reference to his future Southern policy, should these Northern impending elections reveal a decisive weight of Northern public opinion in favor of the Constitutional amendment of Congress.

This is good news, and we are glad to hear it. It places President Johnson properly before the country as a man of the people, faithful to the will of the people, and especially to the great body of the people, who have the right to demand and the power to exact from the lately insurgent States the terms of their restoration to Congress. Upon this ground President Johnson may still become the master of the situation in Congress and in the matter of the reconstruction of our national parties with the restoration of the South. The game is in his hands. A word from him to the excluded States will bring them to the ratification, and the ratification will bring them into Congress. Sumner may cry this will not do, Stevens may still threaten confiscation and extermination; but the example of Tennessee is a binding precedent upon Congress. Agree, says the North to the South, agree to these essential securities for the future, as you have agreed to the ratification of the amendment abolishing slavery, and the doors of Congress will be opened to you, and with this reinstatement in Congress you will have the power to protect yourselves and to secure your own interests in the legislation of Congress. Hence we are glad to believe that the President's powerful influence in the South will be shortly wielded in favor of this Constitutional amendment; glad, because we are satisfied that a word from him to Virginia, South Carolina, Arkansas, or Texas will settle the question.

The South and the Constitutional Amendment.

From the Times

Ex-Governor Sharkey has declared himself opposed to the Constitutional amendment, and has published an article, which we copied recently, against its ratification by the Southern States. Other prominent politicians are exerting their influence to prevent that result. And journals of undoubted weight are trying to persuade their readers that an indefinite exclusion from Congress will be preferable to admission purchased by the acceptance of conditions which are distasteful.

Such a line of argument would be entitled to more consideration under different circumstances. If the South were in the full enjoyment of privileges pertaining to the Union as before the war, there might be a great deal of force in the appeals which are addressed to its pride, and to its cherished theory of constitutional right.

In a certain sense, indeed, the latter is recognized by the mere fact of reference with a view to ratification. Practically, however, this now amounts to little. The major fact of exclusion from Congress remains unshaken, and until this be in some manner removed, it will be the one important obstacle with which the South must deal. By its own acts it has been placed at a disadvantage. The legislative power of the country is against it. It has no power in the Government, and no likelihood of obtaining any, until Congress either relax in its requirements or pronounce them satisfied. There is, therefore, a reasonable certainty that the present position of the South will continue, unless by ratifying the amendment it fulfil the prescribed conditions of restoration to the Union, and so regain its proper proportion of power in the Government.

There might be sagacity in rejecting these conditions if a probability existed of their modification. If it were likely that the next Congress would revise the decision of the present one, and admit the South with or without the amendment, a delay of a few months might be comparatively immaterial. But the probabilities all point the other way. Not only is there no reason for expecting a more conciliatory Congress, but there are many reasons for expecting a Congress more inflexible in its demands than that of which Governor Sharkey complains. Hopes and wishes are of no avail in the case. The predictions of Democratic newspapers are not worth the paper upon which they are printed. The current of public feeling in the North runs but in one direction, and that is towards the amendment as the sine qua non of restoration. The unanimity of the people upon the question has had but one parallel, and that was the unanimity with which they sustained the war for the Union.

Their determination to prevent disruption is only equalled by their resolve that the stipulated guarantees shall be exacted before restoring the lately seceded States to their former position. There is a danger, too, that if these guarantees be not now granted, yet more unpalatable concessions may be demanded. Obstinacy on the part of the South will beget obstinacy on the part of the North. A refusal to yield to the extent now required is calculated to provoke; and the governing power, thus defied, may enforce claims which it has not yet preferred. We say this not by way of menace, but to indicate the possible tendency of events, if the South doggedly decline to accept the amendment. The refusal itself may be not unnaturally interpreted as evidence of the want of harmony between the sections, and the consequent necessity of more stringent measures to assure to the Union the fruits of the war.

Nor should it be forgotten that in a brief period the North will be able to impart constitutional validity to the amendment whether the South ratify it or not. Territories now awaiting admission will doubtless be invested with the dignity of States in the coming winter; other States may be formed out of States where a demand for division already exists; and by this perfectly constitutional process the power of amending the Constitution may be secured, despite the inaction or hostility of the South. Against such a result vetoes will afford no protection, since nothing is more certain than that any interposition by the Executive to stay the will of the majority in Congress will henceforward be ineffectual. There will hereafter be no difficulty in obtaining two-thirds' votes when wanted to give effect to the policy of Congress. The popular verdict this autumn will do more than make the amendment a certainty; it will render Congress invulnerable in any further conflict with the President upon matters growing out of legislative action.

We write of what is and what will be rather than of things as we would have them. Our own opinion as to the injustice and impropriety of exacting the ratification of the amendment as a condition of admission remains unchanged, while we have seen no argument that shakes our approval of the amendment itself as intrinsically moderate, expedient, and just. The South may properly complain of a requirement not already warranted by the Constitution; but, after all, should this feeling induce a summary rejection of an overture the most friendly that will ever be made? Pride is well in its way, but not as the master of prudence. And the South may rest assured that it will lose more than it can possibly gain by delay and opposition. Neither will alter the result, but either may weaken the hands of those in the North who are disposed to liberality, and may in the same proportion strengthen those from whom the South has everything to fear. It is not often that much is gained by kicking against the pricks.

Finance and Currency.

From the Tribune.

The commercial and financial horoscope of our country presages serious trouble. These are its leading features:—

1. A plethora of what is (with questionable propriety) called money, and (still more inaccurately) capital.

2. Loans on call at short time go begging, and are to be obtained at low interest "on call," or short time on almost any sort of collaterals.

3. Stocks of all kinds selling at enormous prices, and generally rising in market value.

4. The premium on gold advancing, and nearly up to 50 per cent.

5. Gold flowing hither from Europe, though our imports of goods enormously exceeds our exports of products—the gold, with the accruing commercial balance against us, being invested in stocks and bonds, mainly those of the Government. In other words: we are drawing bills against the industry of our children and grandchildren, selling them at 25 per cent. discount, and spending the proceeds in wines, silks, and other luxuries which "perish in the using."

6. High prices for labor, for products, for almost everything, rendering ours the best market in the world to sell in and the worst to buy in, an increase and diffusion of sumptuous tastes and luxurious habits, all seem to foreshadow a grand crash, which no skill in financiering can long postpone, if there be not a radical change in our financial and commercial policy.

That change we think the Secretary of the Treasury might and should inaugurate. If he had any earnest, vital faith in the doctrines of his Fort Wayne speech, and his annual report, we believe he would do it. After long and patient waiting and hoping, we have been driven to the conclusion that, though he clearly appreciates the present perilous position of the country, he will do nothing whatever to improve it—that he is one of those dispensers of fine phrases in praise of virtue and morality whose words are in perpetual conflict with their deeds.

Is this uncharitable? Look at his expose just issued, and judge:—

The primary impulse to the present inflation of nominal values is given by the great disparity in value between $1060 in gold and the same amount in "legal tender." Men buy stocks "on time," calculating that their price will be enhanced by a further debasement of the currency. In other words, a speculator bargains to take and pay for so many shares of Erie, Central, or some other stock, at a given future day, on the strength of his expectation that the currency will then be still further debased, and the currency price of this stock consequently enhanced. In other words, he bets that our "legal tender" will have less actual value 30 or 60 days hence than at present.

This debasement is effected in two ways: First, by making "legal tender" and bank notes more abundant; secondly, by making gold scarcer and its acquirement more difficult. Whatever tends to lock up gold tends to depreciate our actual currency.

Look, now, at Mr. McCulloch's latest expose, just issued, and note these items of his account current:—

Amount in Treasury.		Public Debt.
Com.....	$86,259,909	Coin Int....	$1,310 065,941
Currency.....	41,953 858	Currency do.	980,930,190
		No interest.	487,252,205
Total.....	$128,218,767

—Here are over eighty millions of gold and silver hoarded—for what? The debt is being reduced at the rate of $20,000,000 per month. The current revenue largely exceeds the current expenditures. The current receipts of coin very largely exceed the current demands therefor, as is proved by this accumulation. What possible reason can you conceive for keeping on hand this enormous hoard, subject to embezzlement, burglary, and all other mischances, when its instant use in reducing the principal of our debt would diminish the annual interest payable thereon by at least five millions of dollars?

Were the Secretary to use this coin forthwith in the purchase and extinction of public debt, he would, first, reduce the premium on gold—in other words, diminish the debasement of our currency—thus bringing us ever so much nearer to healthy, natural prices; secondly, he would signally appreciate our public debt, and compel foreigners who henceforth buy it to pay something like its actual value; thirdly, it would arrest speculation and diminish importation; fourthly, it would enable the Secretary to renew his loans, when he shall be called to renew them, on terms far more favorable than he can otherwise hope for. By buying up and extinguishing nearly one hundred millions of public debt, he inevitably appreciates what remains, rendering its holders more reluctant to sell and others more eager to buy securities which are seen to be steadily rising in value. And, by continuing to buy up and extinguish, so fast as he can, with either coin or currency, the Secretary would soon be able to place a five per cent. consol at par or over, absorbing therein most of our debt, and thus reducing the annual interest at least twenty millions.

Can any one reconcile the Secretary's daily practice with the doctrines of his annual report?

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 19, 1866.—To the Hon. LEONARD MYERS Member of Congress from the Third District of Pennsylvania:—

Sir:—At a meeting of the Manufacturers and Journeymen Cigar Makers of Philadelphia, held June 18, 1866, the following resolution, together with other proceedings, was adopted:—

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be tendered to the Hon. LEONARD MYERS for the very able and consistent manner in which he defended the interests of our business, having stood almost alone in his advocacy of placing the tax on the raw material.

Extract of minutes of meeting, held June 18, 1836.

PHILADELPHIA, SEPTEMBER 20, 1866.

HON. LEONARD MYERS:—

Sir:—At a meeting of the Philadelphia Druggist Ware Glass-blowers' League, held at the Kensington Engine House, Thursday evening, September 20, 1866, it was unanimously

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be tendered to the Hon. LEONARD MYERS for his promptness and energy in presenting our petitions for an increase of the tariff on glassware, and for his able advocacy of our claims for protection. Also

Resolved, That in him we recognize A TRUE FRIEND OF THE WORKINGMEN and of HOME INDUSTRY; and be it further

Resolved, That a committee of two be appointed to present a copy of the foregoing resolutions to the Hon. Leonard Myers.

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 5, 1866.—TO THE MANUFACTURERS AND JOURNEYMEN CIGAR MAKERS OF PHILADELPHIA.—

Gents:—I notice in to day's "Ledger" a card signed by Augustus Pfaff and Charles Baker, stating that since the resolution passed at a meeting of your members thanking me for my defense of your business interests, in advocating a tax upon the RAW MATERIAL, I voted in opposition, to what I then advocated, and that their names were used without authority. Neither of these statements are true. The resolutions of thanks were sent me exactly as published. It was given unasked, and without reservation, and these gentlemen, who were merely the officers of the meeting will not attempt to deny the statement over their signatures as such officers.

I voted for the amendment, the passage of which I urged, to tax tobacco in the leaf as the workingmen in the trade desired believing it just and equitable. As your letter admits, "I STOOD ALMOST ALONE" in such advocacy, and the amendment failed. Yet I take great pleasure in saying that, notwithstanding the failure to incorporate my amendment I voted for the present tax law, which not only to some degree relieves your trade from the burthens of the former law but is an ACT TO REDUCE TAXATION, and releases the great mass of the mechanics and business men of the country from imposts amounting to many millions of dollars. Very respectfully yours,
10 8 2t LEONARD MYERS.

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 6, 1866.

HAMILTON DISSTON, Esq.:—

Dear Sir:—In reply to several kind inquiries from you made with the intention of silencing the slanders of our opponents, I desire to say:—

First. That the assertion that Congress gave higher bounty to the negro than to the white man is as absurd as it is false. The acts became law by the signature of Andrew Johnson; and had any such distinction been made, he would very properly have used the veto he is so fond of.

I voted for, and the House passed, a law giving higher bounty to soldiers and to sailors too; but under the pressure of a protest from Andrew Johnson's Secretary of the Treasury, the senate refused to concur in it; and, on the last morning of the session having voted down a bill to equalize our salaries, which was offered and urged by the Democratic leaders of each House, we took the best bounty bill we could get, the Senate having incorporated the equalization of salaries and bounties in one bill, and refusing to pass one without the other.

Second. That the question of negro suffrage, about which demagogues are prating so much is in nowise involved in the issues before the people. The great Constitutional Amendment expressly leaves it to the several States.

That amendment repudiates the Rebel debt, guarantees the payment of the National obligations, making our bonds, pensions and bounties secure; prevents forsworn traitors from reoccupying the high places of the nation, and asserts that no Southern man disloyal or loyal, shall in the basis of representation, be allowed more votes than a Northern one.

On the adoption of this amendment every Southern State may, like Tennessee, obtain admission for its loyal members. The fruits of our victories will then be secured and the country, released from the excitement produced by designing leaders whose only object is to reach power regardless of the POPULAR VOICE, will, under a judicious system of PROTECTION TO THE RIGHTS OF LABOR march forward to a prosperity higher unknown. I am, sir, yours, very truly,
10 8 2t LEONARD MYERS.

THE HON. LEONARD MYERS' SERVICES TO THE STATE.—The following interesting correspondence is well worthy of perusal, and explains itself:—

HARRISBURG, August 6, 1866.

Dear Sir:—It is always agreeable to a public man to feel that he enjoys the confidence of his constituency, and that he has so well led the trusts committed to his care as to deserve their approbation. I avail of the adjournment of Congress to thank you for the zeal, efficiency and fidelity you lent to the advocacy of the bill you introduced and which passed into a law at the last session of Congress, to reimburse money advanced by the state in 1865 at the request of the President and Secretary of War.

Having failed to secure the appropriation at the preceding sessions of Congress, although earnestly pressed by the Legislature of this State and our members of Congress and as my term of office expired before another effort could be made, I watched the progress of your bill with much solicitude; and while the interests of the people were faithfully served by our entire delegation in aiding the passage of the appropriation, I have never failed to speak of your able, persistent, and successful efforts as deserving the thanks of the State.

When reflecting upon the great questions upon which you were called to act during the late session of Congress, it must be a gratification to you to feel that you gave this measure, so just and equitable in all respects, your earnest and efficient support.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
A. G. CURTIN.

Hon. LEONARD MYERS.

PHILADELPHIA, August 8, 1866

Hon. Andrew G. Curtin, Governor of Pennsylvania:—

Dear Sir:—I cannot feel otherwise than gratified at your very complimentary letter upon the passage by Congress of my bill reimbursing $7,000,000 to our state. The measure, however was as you well remark, just and equitable in all respects" and I only did my duty in presenting and urging it.

The money was advanced by some of the banks of Philadelphia, neither Congress nor the State Legislature being then in session, to pay those troops from our state who in the great emergency of 1863, volunteered to repel the invaders and pressed them back towards the decisive battle-ground of the war, at Gettysburg.

When the Legislature met the State, at your instance, promptly assumed and afterwards paid this sum. Mr. Lincoln and the Secretary of War fulfilled their promise to recommend the reimbursement; and, in spite of the delays and strong opposition it is a pleasure to feel that Congress at last recognized the validity of the claim.

The part which Pennsylvania bore in the war to put down the Rebellion—and Philadelphia did her full share—is indeed a proud one. The records of the War Department show that we furnished over 366,000 soldiers to defend the Union.

These were exclusive of the militia who, in 1862, 1863, and 1864 sprang to arms at a moment's notice to resist the Rebel hordes and in addition to our gallant sailors, who equally with their comrades on the land aided to render the American name more illustrious than ever. Yet it adds to the fame of our goodly Commonwealth that, throughout the war, she had in your self a Governor whose every pulsation was for his country, and who is known as the friend of its defenders.

Pleased to have received commendations from such a source, I am, with sincere regard,
Yours, very respectfully
LEONARD MYERS.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF SCHOOL CONTROLLERS.—A stated meeting of the Board of Controllers was held yesterday afternoon. A communication was received from the Second Section in opposition to any but boys educated in the public Grammar Schools being admitted into the High School. Laid on the table. A communication was received from the Twelfth Section favorable to the admission of boys from private schools into the High School. Similarly disposed of as above. The Fourth Sectional Board requested the Board to advertise for plans and proposals for the erection of a two-story twelve-division school-house on the lot purchased by the city on Twelfth street, above Fitzwater street; the Fourteenth Section requested the Board to petition Councils to take up on ground rent, for school purposes, the lot on the south side of Melon street, below Twelfth; also that the Board ask Councils for an appropriation of $25,000 of the million loan to erect a building for secondary schools on the lot south side of Melon street, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets; from the Nineteenth Section, asking that the necessary repairs be made to the Price Grammar School; from the Twenty-third Section a communication was received asking the Board to appropriate, out of the fund to build school houses in that section, $4000 to erect a school-house on the ground of the Washington School, and $2000 to rebuild the Tillyer School-house, that building being unfit for occupancy. Referred.

A communication, numerously signed by citizens of the Twenty-sixth Section, setting forth that the Landreth School was destroyed by fire about eight months ago, and a contract was entered into to have the school rebuilt by the 1st of September, 1866; and that the school is not yet completed, and is not likely to be until midwinter, and that their children are thereby deprived of the opportunity of instruction. Laid on the table.

The Committee on Text Books reported in favor of the introduction into the schools of Parker's First Lessons in Grammar and Fewsmith's Grammar.

The Committee on Accounts reported their approval of bills to the amount of $57,173·02, for which warrants were directed to be drawn.

The Special Committee appointed to consider certain questions propounded by teachers of the Grammar Schools in reference to the resolution abolishing limitation of studies in the schools, reported that there had not been time to consider the subject fully, and asked that the operation of the resolution be postponed until after the 1st of January next. The report was recommitted.

Mr. Clark offered the following resolution, which was adopted:—

Resolved, That the Committee on Text Books inquire into and report the probable cost of preparing and stereotyping a series of class-books for the use of the schools of this district.

Mr. Freeborn offered the following:—

Resolved, That a Special Committee of five be authorized to report a uniform system of text-books, to be used in the Grammar and other schools of the district after the 1st of January next.

In support of the resolution, Mr. Freeborn said that thousands of dollars are expended for books every year, which are only used in a few of the schools, and which would not be used at all if influences were not brought to bear upon teachers to effect their introduction. It was adopted.

A resolution was offered instructing the Committee on Repairs to confer with the Directors of the Athenæum building, upon what terms they would be willing to erect an additional room for the use of the Board. Adopted.

NATIONAL ORPHANS' HOMESTEAD.—A beautiful and impressive scene was witnessed on Sabbath last, at the Central Presbyterian Church, corner of Eighth and Cherry streets. The Sabbath Schools of this church have contributed largely towards the Home about to be inaugurated at Gettysburg for the orphans of soldiers who have fallen in their country's defense. Many of the Sunday Schools of the country, of all denominations, have contributed to this same worthy object, and are entitled, for every twenty-five dollars given, to name an orphan as candidate for admission into the Home.

On the occasion referred to, two little children of a brave soldier who fell at Gettysburg were presented before the scholars as their representatives in the Home. They were introduced by Father Martin, one of the secretaries of the Association, who made appropriate remarks. Judge Pierce, one of the Superintendents of the schools, responded in a very feeling manner. He had himself been left an orphan at an early period, and he could appreciate somewhat the value of such a holy charity.

The contribution they had made was not equal to its worthiness, or at all commensurate with its claims. Think of what the fathers of those who were to be the inmates of the Home at Gettysburg had done to protect our homes and save our country! It becomes us well to give much tender thought for the children of those who bled for the great cause of freedom, and died that we might live as a nation. He referred touchingly to the little fatherless ones before him. There were few dry eyes when he had done speaking.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Reed, next made a solemn appeal to the congregation. He himself had lost a brother on the field of Gettysburg, where the lifeless body of Humiston was found grasping the pictures of his three children. The sympathy of the public, excited by Sergeant Humiston's case, had been the means of founding the Home, and his three children were to be inmates, besides the many others whose fathers had fallen in the same holy cause.

At the close of his tender remarks a fervent prayer was offered by Father Martin for the little ones and all present, when the two children and their mother were placed on the platform, and hundreds of scholars and adults came forward and took them by the hand. The scene was solemn and affecting in the extreme, and will never be forgotten by those who were present.

DEMOCRATIC AND CONSERVATIVE MEETING.—Under a call headed "Attention, White Men," and announcing that General Sweeney and others would speak to the Democracy and Conservatives in front of Independence Hall, there was a large gathering at that place last evening, and speaking from two stands.

At one of the stands there was an organization by the selection of Mr. John Keenan as chairman. Colonel Aiken, of Washington, was introduced to the assemblage, and spoke of the deep-seated feeling on the part of the people of Pennsylvania for the Hon. Heister Clymer, the firm, consistent friend of the Union and the Constitution.

General Sweeney, who was announced to speak, did not make his appearance, but Mr. John M. Harrington, of New York, was introduced as his representative, and announced himself as a hard-shell Democrat, who had never, and would never, be anything else. He spoke of the justice of receiving the representatives of the Southern States again into the councils of the nation, and referred to the declaration of Abraham Lincoln, that he had sent his legions forth to drive them back and not to force them away. Mr. Harrington asserted that the Democratic party had always been the war party, and that it had brought the country safely out of the late contest.

At the other stage Mr. Henry Bruner presided, and addresses were made by Messrs. Daniel M. M. Collins and Henry Bruner, and others.

A NEW HALL.—The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society have commenced the erection of their new hall on the lot south of the Academy of Music, Broad street. The lot has a front of about eighty feet, and a first-class hall will be erected. The foundation walls are nearly up, and they present a very substantial appearance.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—The Coroner's jury who investigated the killing of Vernon Lewis, on the Junction Railroad, on Friday last, rendered a verdict of death by accidental scalding. The witnesses could not throw any light upon the cause of the disaster. No obstruction was seen on the track by any of those examined.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The following Committee was appointed at a meeting of firemen held at the Neptune Hose House, to make arrangements for the reception of the United States Hose Company, on their return from a visit they are to make to Lancaster and Reading:—Messrs. Donnelly, of the Lafayette; James R. Nailer, of the Warren; T. G. Dagney, of the Hope; F. B. Holt, of the United States, Camden; and James Duffy, of the Vigilant. Mr. Samuel Greer, of the Neptune Hose, was chosen Chief Marshal.

The old "Dilly" Engine, built in 1821 by Pat Lyon, and rebuilt in 1836 and 1856, has been broken up by the Diligent Company, to whom she belonged. The "Dilly" was considered the best hand engine ever constructed in our city. One of the last trials of her power was some years ago, when she played a stream over the flagstaff on Dr. Jayne's granite building.

The Fame Hose Company have sold their white carriage to a fire company at Wooster, Ohio. The sum of $500 was paid for her.

One of the fine horses belonging to the Northern Liberty Hose and Steam Fire Engine Company died on Friday night last.

JOHNSON-CLYMER MEETING.—The National Union Johnson Club of the Second Ward held a large meeting last evening at Twelfth and Carpenter streets. The stand was handsomely decorated with flags and transparencies. Sergeant James Morison presided.

John B. Minton, Esq., read a series of resolutions, endorsing the address of the 14th of August Convention, President Johnson, Hon. Edgar A. Cowan, General William McCandless, Hon. Samuel J. Randall, and William S. Gregory.

John W. Frazier, Esq., President of the Club, addressed the meeting. He said that the people were now called upon to decide whether the Congress was superior to the Constitution of the United States, and whether the negro shall be made the equal of the white man. The speaker then discussed these issues at some length, and concluded by predicting that General McCandless would be elected State Senator of the First District.

General McCandless, W. H. Morris, and others spoke.

BODY RECOVERED.—The body found at League Island bridge on Sunday was recognized as that of John Williams, a sailor, whose disappearance was noticed several days ago. He and another man started in a boat from Reed street wharf, at an early hour in the morning, and when some distance from the shore cries were heard, and one of the men soon after swam ashore. The other man, Williams, was missing up to yesterday. The affair is involved in mystery, which the Coroner's inquest may unravel. A post-mortem examination was made of the body yesterday.

A NEW BRIDGE.—Several weeks ago the Commissioners appointed to superintend the construction of a bridge over the Schuylkill at South street advertised for proposals. But one bid was received at the time fixed for opening the same, and this was for an iron suspension truss bridge, with permanent Belgian roadway. The bid for its erection was within the sum fixed by the act of the Legislature. The Commissioners have not taken any final action upon the matter as yet.

RENOVATED.—The Logan Square Church, corner of Vine and Twentieth streets, has been closed during the summer, for alterations and improvements, during the absence of the recently elected pastor, Rev. I. L. Beman. The exterior as well as the interior of the building has undergone a thorough overhauling, and now presents a very handsome appearance; the walls and ceiling have been tastefully frescoed, with a striking perspective in the rear of the desk. A spacious gallery has also been constructed. The pastor is a nephew of Dr. Beman, late of Troy, New York.

A LOW WATER LINE.—In 1864 the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed an act giving authority to the Port Wardens of this city to fix an arbitrary low water line along the Delaware front. Heretofore the Port Wardens have had authority only to control the line for the extension of wharves, leaving the owners of property along the river to fix upon a low water line. The Port Wardens have taken steps to act under the authority of the law of 1864, and selected the Chief Engineer and Surveyor to fix a line, which will be submitted to the Port Wardens for final action.

The awards will be made after the Concert, on the stage of the theatre, where three thousand persons can witness it. A committee will be appointed by the audience to superintend the same.

Printed lists of awards will be published and supplied to Agents and Ticket-holders. Parties having tickets will retain them until after the awards are made, and if their numbers appear in the list, they will forward their tickets immediately, with full directions as to the shipping of goods or deeds for the property. Tickets for sale at all the principal Hotels, Book, and Music Stores in the city, and at the Headquarters, in the Mammoth Fair Building for the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' National Orphans' Home Fund, corner of Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C.

The Directors appeal to the liberality of the people to give this enterprise their kind support, and thereby assist in relieving the wants of the orphans of our fallen comrades.

CARD.—A large number of tickets remaining unsold, it will be necessary to postpone the drawing until THURSDAY, the 11th of October, 1866, at which time it will positively occur.

The many swindling schemes that have been presented to the public during the past few months, somewhat delayed our sales, until we were able to satisfy the people throughout the country that this enterprise was genuine, and solely for charitable purposes. The Directors are confident of the sale of every ticket, and have allotted sufficient time to guarantee the sales without any further postponement.

THE PICTORIAL BOOK OF ANECDOTES AND INCIDENTS OF THE REBELLION; Heroic Patriotic, Romantic, Humorous and Tragical.
There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, and will not get embodied in romance and poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports or careful narratives of events, and this part may be called the gossip, the fun, the pathos, of the war.
This illustrates the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service. From the beginning of the war the author has been engaged in collecting all the anecdotes connected with or illustrative of it, and has grouped and classified them under appropriate heads, and in a very attractive form.
The volume is profusely illustrated with over 300 engravings by the first artists, which are really beautiful; worthy of examination as specimens of the art. Many of them are set into the body of the text, after the popular style of Lossing's Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution. The book's contents include reminiscences of camp, picket, spy, scout, bivouac, siege, and battle-field adventures; thrilling feats of bravery, wit, drollery, comical and ludicrous adventures, etc., etc.
Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history are skilfully interwoven in this work of literary art.
This work sells itself. The people are tired of dry details and partisan works, and want something humorous, romantic, and startling. Our agents are making from $100 to $200 per month, clear of all expenses. Send for circulars giving full particulars, and see our terms and proof of the above assertion.

Words for Those Who Have Not Voted.

THIS article may reach the eye of some elector as yet undecided how to vote. To any such we would say, Go immediately and deposit your ballot for the Union Republican candidates. We say so simply because we believe the policy advocated by the Republican party to be the best calculated to promote the peace and welfare of the whole country. Indeed, we should regard the triumph of what is called the President's "policy" as a most serious blow to constitutional liberty in this country—not so much on account of the inherent character of that policy, in itself considered, as from the fact that it is a direct and most flagrant trespass by the Executive upon the rights of the people, as represented in Congress. The Executive has no right to legislate; yet the President's policy is almost purely legislative; it is in effect, if not in direct terms, the making of law, and the making of law in our Government belongs to the people.

We know of no better guide, where a man is in honest doubt how he ought to vote, than to consider how those whom he knows to have been the enemies of the country would have him vote, and then to vote so as to disappoint them. And can any sensible man doubt as to how our late Rebel enemies of the South would have him vote? Does not everybody know that a Clymer victory to-day would be hailed with wild and enthusiastic joy by every Rebel and Rebel sympathizer in the land? This, of itself, ought to be enough to decide the vote of every true Union man.

Finally, let any candid man seriously ask himself whether even the partial triumph of the Democracy, with their persistent threats of an illegal and revolutionary Congress, would not be fraught with immense danger to the country? Of course, the attempt to organize such a body would plunge the nation into convulsion. Nobody supposes that such a coup d'etat would be tolerated by the people. Is it best, then, for the sake of supplanting such able, faithful, and experienced men as Kelley, Myers, O'Neill, and their compeers, with such men as Welsh, Buckwalter, and Hulme, to run the risk of a civil war? We commend this consideration to quiet, thoughtful, honest men, who have great and valuable interests at stake.

In any event, we urge each man to vote—not according to passion, prejudice, or persuasion, but according to the enlightened convictions of his own judgment and conscience. This is a government of the people, and their follies and errors react with fearful rapidity upon their own heads. Let each man vote, therefore, as a constituent part of this great republic, and as individually responsible for its welfare and perpetuity.

The Management of the Campaign.

LAST year we had cause to complain that the campaign in our State was so badly managed that the fight was won without the aid of the State Central Committee. We are glad to be able to utter to-day sentiments the reverse of those then held by us. We have never had a political contest in which more system has been preserved, more care taken, and more ability displayed. At the time of the appointment of Colonel Frank Jordan, by Hon. John Covode, to the position of Chairman of the Committee, we stated our belief that he was eminently fitted for that delicate and onerous position.

His entire management of the campaign has been such as to more than justify the praise bestowed on him then. We do not know what may be the result of all his efforts, but whatever decision the people of our Commonwealth may make, no blame for a defeat can rest on our Chairman; while, if we succeed, to him belongs much of the praise. He has left no stone unturned to gain the victory. He has directed all the energetic efforts of the members of the party, and, aided by the secretaries and members of the Committee, has managed the fight to perfection. We believe that a great victory will be won by the Republican party to-day. We have arranged every plan which could aid the free expression of the sentiments of the people; but whether we win or lose, one fact is the same, the managers of the campaign have done all that could be done to secure for our principles an overwhelming victory.

National Thanksgiving.

THE President, by proclamation, has set apart Thursday, the 29th of November, as a day of National Thanksgiving. The custom of national thanksgiving, under appointment of the President, is one that grew up during our recent war. We see nothing objectionable in perpetuating it. It secures a uniform observance of the festival throughout the country, and is an appropriate recognition of the Divine hand in the blessings of life by a professedly Christian people. It has often been remarked that, as a people, we have too few holidays, and the addition of a national one, devoted to thanksgiving and gladness, cannot but be beneficial in its results.

SIXTY CONGRESSMEN.—Sixty Congressmen are to be elected to-day, twenty-four in Pennsylvania, nineteen in Ohio, eleven in Indiana, and six in Iowa. The present delegation from these States stands forty-eight Union to twelve Democrats.

The South and the Constitutional Amendment.

THERE are numerous and daily increasing evidences that the only thing needful to secure the prompt ratification of the Constitutional amendment by the late Rebel States is the general success of the Union party in the fall elections at the North. Several of the influential Southern journals have already shaped their course towards a full indorsement of the measure, and there is but little doubt that a Republican victory will be followed by the speedy action of most of the Southern States in favor of the amendment. It is not impossible, therefore, that we may see the amendment adopted and the States restored at a very early day.

VOTE AT ONCE.—If this paragraph meets the eye of any Union man who has not yet voted, we urge him to do so at once. The polls close at 6 o'clock, and if you postpone voting to a late hour you may lose your vote altogether. Do not think that your vote is of no consequence. Every vote counts, and we want a majority for the Union ticket that shall tell in the country. Again, we say vote at once.

VALLANDIGHAM.—Mr. Vallandigham has just made a speech, in which he justifies his course during the war, assails the memory of Abraham Lincoln, and approves the present policy of President Johnson. Vallandigham has, at least, the merit of consistency. But what shall we say of any Union man who now goes over to Vallandigham?

GRANT REITERATES.—The Tribune of to-day contains a special despatch from Washington last night, announcing that General Grant reiterates his often expressed opposition to Heister Clymer, and the entire class of peace Democrats of whom he is a representative. We never had the least doubt that such were General Grant's true sentiments.

A Bat on the Stage.—The other evening, at the opera in Paris, the performance of L'Africaine was enlivened by the incursion of a bat. On the rising of the curtain on the fourth act the animal made his appearance, diverting himself alternately by worrying the stalls, dashing himself against the large lustre, and swooping down on the chorus, to the mingled amusement and alarm of artists and audience. Nor did the bat show the slightest respect for "Vasco" and "Selika" during their duo of the act; but fluttered persistently in their faces, till M'me Susse could not get out a note for annoyance. At last, M. Georges Hainl flung his bow at the creature with such precision as to knock it into the wings. "Twenty francs to him that catches the bat!" he cried, and forth sallied supers, carpenters, and chorus on the chase, while the tenor and soprano finished the duo. But at the commencement of act fifth the creature reappeared, till at last a sagacious property man having got a fishing-rod from the theatrical repository, baited it with an insect, and fished from the flies until the animal yielded to temptation and was caught.

Easy Treatment.—A writer in the London Field says that a successful dog doctor in his neighborhood, who had an extensive custom amongst ladies of fashion, on retiring from practice made the following confession:—"When very fat and apoplectic pets were confided to my care, I always tied 'em," said he, "to a crabtree at the end of my garden, and gave 'em nothing but water for a week. When I fetched 'em from home they used to refuse to eat what I should have been glad to get; and when I took 'em back they was glad to get what I would not have touched. I've had some dogs twice and even three times a year, but I always cured 'em at last. One of 'em was as good as three pound a year to me. I was terrible fond of him, but he couldn't abide me; and when he saw me a coming to fetch down his fat, he used to waddle away and howl fit to raise the dead."

Homburg Gamblers.—Much anxiety has been felt by the inhabitants of Homburg as to what their fate will be, now that that little State is absorbed by Prussia. Public play has been forbidden in Prussia, and the play tables at Aix-la-Chapelle have been closed for some years. The Homburg burgomaster has, however, announced that he has received no instructions from the Prussian Government on the subject of play, and that, for all he knows to the contrary, "rouge et noir" and "roulette" will continue as heretofore at the Homburg Casino twelve hours a day, every day in the year, on the same conditions and for the same stakes as usual.

Decapitation by Steam.—Among the sensational paragraphs about the Paris Exhibition is one concerning a new model guillotine invented by a compatriot of Count Bismark. The guillotine is capable of cutting off six heads per minute, and eight if properly handled. The machine is worked by steam, and the knife, instead of falling straight, cuts with a rotary movement. The guillotine can be taken to pieces and put together again in ten minutes; the engine works the wheels, and the machine can steam to the place of execution, and take the body up to the cemetery afterwards!

The French Trade in Roses.—The trade in roses is of importance in France. Rose trees are cultivated in different parts of the country in open fields, like turnips or cabbages. Thus, there are 500,000 rose trees near Orleans; 200,000 near Metz; 1,000,000 near Angers; 1,500,000 near Lyons; 2,000,000 near Paris; and 2,000,000 in the thirteen communes of Brie-Comte-Robert. The varieties called Rose-The, the Bourbon, and Mousseuse flourish particularly in the environs of Paris and Orleans.

A Dignified Brigand.—According to the Giornale di Napoli, a brigand chief named Pace has exclusive ideas about the profession he carries on. He brooks no rivals, and not only denounces any other "gent emen of the highway" who may practise in his district as "impostors," but actually arrests and gives them up to the police. He lately sent four of these competitors to the nearest post of gendarmes, requesting them to be severely punished.

Dispossession.—An association has been started in London to aid poor persons about to be ejected from their homes to make way for railways for metropolitan improvements. It is stated that the various schemes now on foot would dispossess no less than one hundred thousand people, in addition to twenty thousand who have already been evicted.

Killing Fish.—The tanners of Bewdley, England, have been brought before the magistrates for turning a quantity of white liquid from their yard in the Severn. In a few minutes the river was full of dead fish, and it was estimated that no less than one hundred thousand had thus been destroyed. The tanners were fined, and promised not to offend again.

Hudson's Bay.—The London Daily News says the Hudson's Bay Company are understood to ask two million pounds for the sovereignty and the bulk of their freehold, while the Imperial Government have long undertaken to guarantee one million pounds. The shareholders may therefore look to a bargain being struck at some intervening time.

An Untamed Beast.—On the 7th inst., about the close of the Victoria Theatre (London) lion performances, one of the lionesses made an attack on her keeper as he was about leaving the cage. The animal caught the keeper by his leg, and severely scratched his flesh, but by his timely chastisement the brute ceased any further violence.

Monument to a Poet.—A monument has been erected in honor of the Danish poet Steusen Blicher, at Viborg, in Jutland, his native town.

—The English burlesque writers are suffering from bullet on-the-brain. No less than three of them have simultaneously hit upon Der Freischutz for forthcoming burlesques. Each of the three, too, is rather anxious to prove that 'twas he "spoke first." Mr. Byron's Prince of Wales' piece is called Der Freischutz; or, the Belle, the Bill, and the Ball. Mr. Burnand's piece is entitled Der Freischutz; or, A Good Cast for a Piece. Mr. Douglas, of the Standard, has in the titling of his piece not yet got beyond Der Freischutz.

—A short time since, the inhabitants of Chambery, in France, were greatly amused seeing a respectable farmer of the neighborhood arrive at the market in a small cart drawn by two pigs. Those animals trotted away most gaily. The way in which they were harnessed was most curious. The pigs were simply tied to the pole of the cart, at the end of which were attached some truffles, slightly beyond their reach, and the swine, in their efforts to reach the savory article of food, drew along the cart without the necessity of a whip having to be used.

—The London Review says:—"We are all familiar with the poet Shelley; but how many people know that there is a place in England of that name? There is one, however, near Huddersfield, in Yorkshire, and the first stone of a new church has just been laid there. The Shelleys are an old Sussex family; but they may have come originally from the great northern county."

—A clergyman who quitted the Church of England for Rome in 1850 left behind him his prayer-book the last time that he officiated in the pulpit of a church near Bristol. He has since returned to the Church of England, and he had the satisfaction of receiving a few days ago, by post, his long-lost prayer-book, after a lapse of sixteen years.

—Mrs. Ruth Williams, a resident in Sutton, N. H., and seventy-six years of age, has given to each of the soldiers who enlisted from that town five dollars, and received a handsome photograph album in return.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

[For Additional City Intelligence see Third Page.]

THE ELECTION—A HEAVY VOTE BEING CAST—THE PROBABLE RESULT IN THE CITY.—It is se dom that we have enjoyed an election day in this city which has been so barren of incidents as to-day thus far. It was apprehended that there would be some dissatisfaction, if not serious trouble, on account of the change in the hour of opening and closing the polls, but everybody appears to be as good-natured as may be over the matter.

Long before seven o'clock, the hour appointed for the opening of the polls under the new law nearly every polling booth in the city was surrounded by an eager throng, anxiously awaiting the time. In many places the crowd of anxious voters formed lines extending to considerable distances from the little hole in the window at which each one was aiming.

As is usual, the principal object was to determine the character of the first vote cast. Each party, therefore, struggled to get one of its own trusty adherents at the head of the line, and as soon as it was announced that Copper or Loyalty led off the list, the crowd would break forth in shouts or jeers, according to the political predilections of its various components.

The immense crowds of voters surrounding the polls is not the only evidence that the vote to be cast to-day will be perhaps heavier than ever before. A custom which in late years has fallen somewhat into disuse is being revived in many quarters. The leaders of the two great parties are sending around the town their carriages, covered with placards, and gathering up the halt and infirm, both in body and mind, to transport them to the point where their individual existence will tell something towards deciding the fate of the nation and of the "humble" individual at its head.

At this writing it is, of course, impossible to give any reliable data on which to base a calculation of the result. But we see no reason whatever for changing the opinion which we have entertained from the first, which is that General Geary will go out of the city with a majority ranging somewhere between 12,000 and 15,000.

In our next edition we shall give a tabular statement of the vote in the various wards, up to the time of going to press, as far as it will be possible to obtain reliable returns. By that time it is expected that the result will be clearly indicated.

HOW THE LADIES VOTED.—While our noble Republican friends were rolling up an immense majority for General Geary at the polls, our mothers, wives, daughters, sisters, aunts, nieces, and cousins were quietly voting at home. They were voting in favor of using only DOBBINS' ELECTRIC SOAP, the greatest blessing of the age. We need not expatiate upon the merits of this saponaceous compound here. Are they not fully recorded on the eighth page of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH to-day? There are so many respectable endorsements that we need scarcely mention our own. We say, however, emphatically, that it is the best article known to the world for washing; that it is considered indispensable by every lady we know, and that its use is rapidly becoming universal. This is not surprising, when we remember that DOBBINS' ELECTRIC SOAP is manufactured from the very best materials, by experienced factors, according to scientific principles.

DOBBINS' ELECTRIC SOAP does away with all superfluous manipulations in washing clothes. With very little rubbing, articles are thoroughly cleansed. It thus saves labor and economizes in the matter of apparel.

DOBBINS' ELECTRIC SOAP is cheap. A pound of it costs but little more than ordinary brown soap, yet actual test shows that one pound of DOBBINS' ELECTRIC SOAP goes as far as ten pounds of any other saponaceous preparation.

Look at these beautiful pictures on the eighth page of this paper to-day. Read the certificates, and then try DOBBINS' ELECTRIC SOAP, which you can buy at any grocery store.

A WATCH THIEF.—A colored man named John A. Evans was arrested this morning for the larceny of a watch, the property of Mr. A. Meyers. Mr. Meyers testifies that he was standing in South street below Eighth street, when the prisoner accosted him and asked if he had a watch. Mr. Meyers replied that he had, and handed it to him. The would-be thief put it in his pocket, and coolly walked off.

The statement of Evans slightly contradicts this. He alleges that Mr. Meyers came to his sister's house and wanted to sell the watch. His sister had a gold watch, and went up stairs and brought it down. The prisoner wanted to trade and would give something to boot. He thought that he had stolen it, so when he met him he got the watch and handed it to a policeman.

The owner followed, and told the police officer to arrest him for stealing the watch. The officer then took him in charge, and brought him before Alderman McMullin, who held him to answer in default of $500 bail.

THE SEWING MACHINE COMMITTEE at Mount Holly (N. J.) Fair, held last week, awarded the highest premium to Willcox & Gibbs.

REPUBLICAN MEETING IN CAMDEN.—The Citizens' Republican Campaign Club met at the Union League Hall last evening, P. C. Brink in the Chair. A Finance and Executive Committee were appointed, consisting of gentlemen from the North and South Wards.

Mr. Sparks was elected Treasurer, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the declination of Mr. Townsend, from whom a communication was received, in which he stated his heart was with the cause in which the Club was engaged, but he was not able to discharge the duties of the office as they should be discharged, owing to his not having sufficient time.

The proceedings were purely of a business character, and of no interest to the public at large. At the conclusion of the meeting General Robeson was called on, and responded in a neat little speech in his usual style, bringing forth the plaudits of his auditory.

A SUPPOSED RIVER PIRATE.—About 7 o'clock this morning, as Officers Carrow and Leavitt were passing Swanson and South streets, their attention was attracted to a furniture-car in charge of a man named John Sullivan. Their suspicions being aroused by his actions, he was arrested, and the car was found to be full of rope and rigging, iron, and pieces of ornamental brass work. Sullivan could not give a clear title to the property, and told quite a twisted tale as to the manner in which it had come into his possession. The property had evidently been taken from a river steamer. It is now at the Second District Police Station, awaiting the identification of the owners.

THE ELECTION — BULLY FOR THE "BULLS."—At the meeting of the Board of Brokers this morning, it entered into the head of some particular "bull" to see how high Heister Clymer could be hoisted. So he proposed an informal vote on the Gubernational question, which was taken accordingly. Those who favored the election of General Geary held up their hands, and the contrary likewise; the result standing 60 to 12. A motion to make the vote unanimous was carried, amid great enthusiasm.

THE YORK COUNTY FAIR, just closed, awarded to Willcox & Gibbs the first premium for 'best Sewing Machines"

THE TAX ON PICKLES.—In answer to a telegram from a gentleman of this city, Deputy Commissioner Harland says:—

"Pickles in glass packages are not exempt from duty, as they are either fruits or vegetables when thus made, prepared, and sold, or offered for sale, or removed for consumption, the bottle or other glass package containing them, must be stamped in conformity with the requirements of 'Schedule C,' of the act of July 13, 1866."

THE NEW JERSEY STATE FAIR, held at Trenton last month, awarded the highest premium to Willcox & Gibbs for "best Sewing Machines"

SLIGHT FIRE.—There was a slight fire at the residence of Mr. Clark, in Getchell's court. The fire burned up a bed and some clothing. It was put out before it had done much damage. The loss will not exceed $20.

AT DOYLESTOWN, Bucks (Pa.) County Fair, after a severe contest, the first premium for "best Sewing Machines" was awarded to Willcox & Gibbs

THE ELECTION—"BILLY" McMULLIN'S PREROGATIVE.—This morning our reporter was despatched in the direction of the notorious "Fourth Ward," to see how went the day in the dominions of "Billy" McMullin. As usual on such occasions, that dignitary was discovered wielding a rather despotic sway.

At the Eighth Division polling house, where "Billy" holds his headquarters, our reporter put to an officer the appropriate inquiry:—

"Is anything up?"

He was at once informed that the privilege of depositing a vote had been denied a man who was known to be a Republican.

Our reporter hunted up the party thus aggrieved, and received from him the following statement:—

"I was going to vote the Republican ticket, and Billy McMullin put his lip in, and said if I didn't shut up he would hit me in the mouth.

"I said to him:—'You are around your own doors now; if it wasn't so I'd give it to you. I would like to know by what right Billy McMullin interferes in those things?'"

The gentleman may well be indignant. But his indignation was all to no purpose, as at the latest advices his ballot was still in his pocket.

THE ELECTION—"EVERYTHING LOVELY."—As we go to press, we have heard of but few disturbances, and those have been of the most trivial character. Here and there a few boisterous individuals who have imbibed a little too much of the liquidity popularly termed "rot gut," have attempted to create a disturbance, either by interfering with the voting of others, or by attempting to do the thing "double" themselves.

But the large and energetic police force on duty throughout the city have checked all these embryo rows by summarily taking their abettors into custody. It is to be hoped that the latter half of the day will be as decent and orderly as has been the first half.

CHILD INJURED.—This morning, a child named John Ryan, only three years old, was knocked down by a horse at Eleventh and Ogden streets. It was seriously hurt, being bruised very severely about the legs. The child was taken to the home of its parents, No. 808 Inquirer street.

MURDERS—

Gotham journals pretend to sneer
At the amount of murder here;
But, when events are rare,
They attract most observation;
And a city's reputation
That is most pure and fair,
Every spot more quickly snows,
Like mud splashed on summer clothes;
And, by-the-by, new styles for fall
Are now displayed at Tower Hall.

We are prepared with an unusually full and comprehensive stock of Men's, Youths', and Boys' Fall and Winter Clothing, which we are selling at MUCH LOWER PRICES THAN HAVE BEEN KNOWN FOR SEVERAL YEARS. Congratulating our patrons and the public generally upon the decline in the prices of materials which renders this possible, we invite an examination.

FROM WASHINGTON THIS P. M.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

WASHINGTON, October 9.

The Indian Outrages.

Major-General Cloud, special agent to examine into Indian outrages, reports that the Pawnees and Omahas are not the guilty parties, and that the Ottoes are responsible for the deeds.

Surrender of a Claim Agent.

J. B. Lowenthall, the claim agent, charged with defrauding the Government, arrived in this city to-day, and, accompanied by his counsel, Messrs. Riddle and Stanton, proceeded to the court-house and gave himself up to the Marshal voluntarily to meet the charges.

Pardon of a Mail Robber.

The President has pardoned John H. Mellinger, of Pennsylvania, sentenced to five years imprisonment for stealing a letter from the mail.

Baltimore Politics.

BALTIMORE, October 9.—Reports are in circulation of an intention on the part of Governor Swann to remove the Police Commissioners, on the ground of alleged official misconduct in making arrangements for the municipal election.

The report occasions much discussion, the Republicans maintaining that the Commissioners have not violated the law, and that the Governor cannot exercise such authority until the Commissioners shall have been first indicted, tried, and convicted of unlawful conduct, as they are placed in office by the Legislature, and not appointed by the Governor.

The conservative maintain that he can remove them, the same as any other State officers.

The Roman Catholic Council.

BALTIMORE, October 9.—The Roman Catholic Council proceedings are now strictly private, and conducted in Latin.

There will be another public service on Thursday, and a final demonstration on Sunday week.

The Political Excitement in Baltimore

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

BALTIMORE, October 9.—The same parties who tore down the flag from the Conservative Union headquarters put it up again half-an-hour afterwards, minus the appended name of the National Union Party's Headquarters. The excitement continues, but there are no more special outrages.

CHAMPION TELEGRAPH MATCH.

Burns, of Worcester, the Winner—Extraordinary Manipulation.

From the Boston Traveller, October 5.

A third match for the telegraph sending championship of New York and New England, between Messrs. P. H. Burns, of Worcester, and W. E. Kettles, of Fall River, took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, on the Western Union Company's lines from New York to Boston—Mr Kettles working from the former and the champion from his own city.

Since the last trial between the two gentlemen, the interest of the public at large in these matches, and of telegraphers especially, has been largely augmented, so much so, in fact, that considerable sums are known to have changed hands on the result.

The 250 words appointed to be sent, were fixed upon only yesterday morning, allowing little or no chance for practice, otherwise the race of speed would have been higher; but as it was, the time made probably equals the best on record.

Mr. Kettles led, and, as on a former occasion, was interrupted in his first essay. At the conclusion of his second and more successful attempt, the time was announced to six minutes and twenty-seven seconds.

Mr. Burns followed, completing his task in six minutes, seven seconds. By two of the three judges the champion's writing was considered plainer and better than his opponent's, while their colleague favored Mr Kettles' in the respects. They were united, however, in the opinion that the display on either side was every way better than any previous one that had come within their experience. Mr. Burns was adjudged victor, and as such is to hold the champion key until a better man presents himself.

In order that the non-telegraphing public may the better appreciate the skill displayed as above recorded, it may be well to say that the 250 words transmitted in 367 seconds contained 1158 letters, or more than three to be sent per second. To form these letters it was necessary to make 2592 down strokes of graduated length, with the key, and as many up strokes. In every second, therefore, Mr. Burns performed a trifle over fourteen distinct motors of his hand. The punctuation marks are not taken into this calculation, although they were introduced by each contestant.

When we consider that in writing in the Morse alphabet a well-defined space or pause must be made, not only between the words but also between the letters, and even in some of the letters themselves, all of which is so much time lost, the rapidity of Mr. Burns' manipulation partakes of the marvellous.

It is thought improbable that Mr. Kettles will again appear as a contestant for the championship, at least for the present. Other aspirants may, however, present themselves.

It is rumored that already negotiations are making for a match between the "champion telegraph sender" of this section and a Southern operator of some repute.

New York Politics.

BUFFALO, October 9.—John Hoyt, the Fenian Colonel who was nominated by the Republicans for the Assembly, has declined the nomination.

The weather is very warm.

From Boston

BOSTON, October 9.—The kerosene oil store of A. G. Foss, No. 75 Union street, was burned last night. The loss amounted to $10,000, on which there is a partial insurance. The occupants lost from $2000 to $3000.

LETTER FROM PARIS.

Movements of Louis Napoleon—The Foreign Ministers' Circular—The New Pontifical Legion—The Eastern Question—A Flurry Among the Mexican Bondholders—The Berlin Festivities, Etc. Etc.

[EVENING TELEGRAPH SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PARIS, September 29, 1866.

At Last.

The Emperor yesterday left Paris for Biarritz. It was indeed high time that he should put an end to public suspense; for his journey, so often postponed, gave rise to the most alarming rumors as regards the imperial health. However, it turns out that these different reports were devoid of truth, and the journey to Biarritz was postponed until after the drawing up of the Circular which has just been sent to our Ambassadors residing in foreign parts, by Monsieur de Lavalette, Minister of Foreign Affairs ad interim, until the arrival of Mons. de Moustier, detained at Constantinople by the unsettled state of affairs caused by the insurrection in Candia.

"Everything for the Best."

The circular of the temporary Minister of Foreign Affairs, though a long time coming, is perfectly in accordance with the best hope which this long-deferred document has raised in the minds of all intelligent persons in Europe, and the actual confirmation of such anticipations is in itself highly satisfactory. Monsieur de Lavalette's circular is an acknowledgment of the principle "that everything is for the best." The Emperor had long announced that the empire was peace, and, his policy fairly considered, has always been consistent with his professions. His Majesty, through the mouth, or rather the pen, of his temporary Minister of Foreign Affairs, tells us that the aggrandizement of Prussia need not be any source of anxiety to France, as the questions of one country ought not to depend upon the slavery of another or others. The Emperor of the French knows full well that any attempt to cross the Rhine on the part of France would be sure to raise against him the German nation, with all its princes at its head, as compact as France herself could be. The Emperor has, much to the regret of many, wisely submitted to the law of necessity; and there is every reason to agree with the expediency of his adhering to a neutral policy and to the tender of his good offices as a mediator.

There was nothing else to do after Sadowa but to put a good countenance upon a losing game, and to make the best of a most untoward turn that the situation of Europe could in so short a lapse of time have taken. There is one sentence in the circular of Mons. de Lavalette, touching upon the papal question, which admits, perhaps, of ambiguous interpretation, but is perfectly compatible with simplicity and straightforwardness. "France," writes the Minister ad interim, "has rejoiced in the liberation of Italy, but is apprehensive of the safety of the Pope. By the convention of September, which will be faithfully executed, the interests of the pontifical throne will be secured." Of course, this means the spiritual throne—the power of the Supreme Bishop of the Latin Church—for, as to the temporal throne, undoubtedly, when it is left to the care of itself it must be subjected to all temporal viscissitudes, and depend for its stability on the national will of the Roman people, and no longer on the protection of France alone. The circular has, all in all, calmed the public anxiety, and it is to be hoped that confidence has returned.

The New Roman Legion,

which has been formed at Antibes, and which has been confided to a French officer, has arrived at Civita Vecchia, where it is undergoing quarantine. A telegram tells us that Monsignor di Hohenlohe had embarked from that port on the 16th, and that he is the bearer of an autograph letter from the Pope to the Queen of England. It is further reported that the new Pontifical army, recruited in Belgium and in France, will remain at Viterbo until the departure of the French soldiers, who have expressed a great repugnance at coming in contact with the new defenders of the faith, who have not been picked from the elite of European society. It must, however, be said, in justice to the new legion, that their conduct whilst in Antibes left nothing to be desired.

A Rumbling in the East.

In the presence of the gigantic conflict of which the East will shortly be the theatre, German, Italian, and even Mexican questions are thrown into the shade. Nevertheless, events of some interest are occurring in these quarters. Great movements of Russian troops are taking place in Poland. An address, numerously signed by the Russian party at Warsaw, is about to be sent to the Emperor, begging him to annex definitely Poland to the Russian empire. This step naturally plunges the Poles in a state of stupefaction mingled with rage. The Christian subjects of the Porte are now taking a most alarming attitude against the Sultan, and the secret assistance sent them by the Czar makes it to be feared that their general rising is to be looked for.

The Treaty Between Austria and Italy.

Negotiations continue between Austria and the Italian kingdom for the conclusion of peace. The Convention of the 24th of August, which regulates the cession of Venetia to France, stipulates that the debts which shall be recognized as attaching to any ceded territories, conformably to the precedent of the treaty of Zurich, will remain at the charge of the new sovereign. A difference has arisen in the interpretation of this clause, but this difficulty will be soon got over, and is awaiting the results of the communications exchanged between the two Governments on this subject. The plenipotentiaries are occupied with other questions, which are to be settled by the treaty of peace. On his side, the French Commissioner in Venetia is preparing, in concert with the competent authorities, the measures necessary for taking possession and handing over the fortresses and territories.

Great Alarm of the Mexican Bondholders.

The holders of Mexican securities were yesterday most unpleasantly surprised by the announcement made by the Moniteur that the needful for the payment of the interest on Mexican securities had not arrived from Mexico. Mexican bonds are now looked upon as no better than waste paper, for there is every probability that the Emperor has decided to let things take their course in the crumbling empire. The mission of Baron Dupont to Miramar is a most unpleasant and delicate one. He goes to tell the brave daughter of Leopold I that, to the list of monarchs retired from business, or rather from whom business has retired, one must be added soon, and that an empire must be struck off the roll of the powers of the world.

Approaching Festivities at Berlin.

The capital of Prussia has, for many days, been making preparations for the triumph which is to take place to-day. We hear that all Prussia that can afford to pay for its railway ticket is to come to Berlin to see the triumphal entry of the troops. Many strangers have already arrived, but like the strangers who come into a theatre as soon as the doors are opened, many have found time hang very heavy on their hands. Dreadfully ennuye, they have been wandering about the dull and monotonous streets of the German Athens, gaping at the long line of captured guns—the spolia opima of the campaign—which are placed on either side of the Unter den Linden, and stopping from time to time to take a listless interest in the ugly black-and-white Prussian flag, and the preparations for the illuminations. For windows in the Linden enormous prices are asked and given.

Damage by Storms.

The Indian mail via Marseilles brings us sad news. A cyclone, accompanied by a deluge of rain, had made tremendous ravages on the 5th and 6th inst. at Kurachee. Five hundred houses have been destroyed and many people killed. All communication was put a stop to on the railways and telegraphs.

The weather continues to be very bad all over France, and the prediction of the late weather prophet, M. Mathieu de la Dresne, that the fine days were to return on the 20th, has turned out to be a falsehood, as the rain still continues to come down steadily, and every prospect of saving the vintage is now given over.

Accounts from Burgundy state that a dreadful hailstorm, a few days ago, visited Dijon and its neighborhood, and did a great deal of damage to the vineyards in that district.

Dulness of the Capital.

The French capital is at the present moment dulness itself. The elite of fashion is still either in the country or at the different watering-places of the continent. The theatres are doing nothing at present, and the only novelty spoken of for the coming season is Verdi's opera of Don Carlos, which is being actively rehearsed at the Academie Imperiale de Musique.

INSTRUCTION.

PARDEE SCIENTIFIC COURSE IN LAFAYETTE COLLEGE.

In addition to the general Course of Instruction in this Department, designed to lay a substantial basis of knowledge and scholarly culture, students can pursue those branches which are essentially practical and technical, viz.:—

We have carefully tested the sample of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY which you send us, and find that it contains NONE OF THE POISONOUS SUBSTANCE known as FUSIL OIL, which is the characteristic and injurious ingredient of the whiskies in general use.

BOOTH, GARRETT & CAMAC, Analytical Chemists

NEW YORK, September 3, 1858.

I have analyzed a sample of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY received from Mr. Charles Wharton, Jr., Philadelphia; and having carefully tested it, I am pleased to state that it is entirely FREE FROM POISONOUS OR DELETERIOUS substances. It is an unusually pure and fine-flavored quality of whisky.

JAMES R. CHILTON, M. D., Analytical Chemis

BOSTON, March 7, 1859

I have made a chemical analysis of commercial samples of CHESNUT GROVE WHISKY, which proves to be free from the heavy Fusil Oils, and perfectly pure and unadulterated. The fine flavor of this whisky is derived from the grain used in manufacturing it.

85,

Before consenting to this Agency, we have made a careful examination of the merits of these Bonds, by sending Wm. Milnor Roberts, and others, to report upon the condition and prospects of the Railroad. Their report is on file at our office, and is highly satisfactory. We do not hesitate to recommend these Bonds as being a first-class security, and a most safe and judicious investment.

The above Bonds are rapidly passing out of our hands, and as we expect to raise the price shortly, we advise all who desire them to call promptly

All information cheerfully given.

USE THIS SOAP,

In recommending this soap, we feel confident that nothing we can say will be more pointed than the following flattering testimonials from establishments generally known to the public:—

Messrs. J. B Dobbins & Co.—Gentlemen:—We have tested your Electric Soap, and are happy to say it gives entire satisfaction. For many purposes it surpasses any other Soap we have ever used.

Very truly yours,
J. E. KINGSLEY & CO.,
Proprietors of the Continental Hotel.
Philadelphia, August 23, 1865.

PHILADELPHIA ALMSHOUSE, August 25, 1865.

Messrs. J. B. Dobbins & Co.—Gents:—We have tried to economize in our laundry work at this institution, have bought materials, and made our own soap; but being induced to try your Electric Soap, have to report our work done better, with less labor, and a saving of thirty per cent. in the cost of soap.

We manufacture our own woollen blankets, and have never been able to cleanse the wool so efficiently, and at so little cost, as when using your soap.

The most difficult washing in our hospital can be done better and with less expense with your soap, than any we have ever made or bought.

Respectfully, J. W. MALONE.
Superintendent of Mechanics at Philadelphia Almshouse.

Messrs J. B. Dobbins & Co.:—Having used your Electric Soap in various departments of our extensive laundry, we find it very satisfactory.

It saves much time and labor, cleansing effectually, leaving the goods in splendid order, and at less cost than soaps we have formerly used.

We have found nothing equal to it for extracting grease spots from carpets and woollen clothing

HENRY M. BOWEN, Superintendent.
C. FRANK COBB, Secretary and Treasurer.

FRANK A. SHUTE, Proprietor of the Quaker City Laundry, says that he cannot praise it too highly.

Mrs C. HARTMAN, No 1229 Marshall street,
Says that the time and labor of washing is so much reduced by the use of this soap as to excite astonishment.

Rev. E. I. D. PEPPER
Says his family are perfectly delighted with it.

It is also very highly recommended by

ALL ARE WASHED

IN A SUPERIOR MANNER

WITH VERY LITTLE LABOR,

And in One-Fourth of the Time

USUALLY REQUIRED.

Woollens do not shrink when washed with this Soap, and Dresses can be washed without being ripped apart. Fast colors are made bright and clear, and it is invaluable for cleansing Paint, Oil Cloths, etc. There is

GREAT ECONOMY IN THE USE OF THIS SOAP,

As the Clothes are not worn out by the use of Washing Machines, and the time and labor saved is worth more than the entire cost of the Soap. The materials used in the manufacture of this Soap are all of the finest quality, unadulterated, and is made by a very superior process, having cleansing properties that will be found most astonishing; and at the same time it will be found pleasant to the hands, as it tends to make them soft and smooth. A single trial will satisfy any person that this Soap should be in every family.

It is used by cutting into small shavings, and dissolving in hot water; then soaking the Clothes five to ten minutes: then a little hand rubbing will make them as clean as hours of hard machine rubbing would do with ordinary Soap.

For cleaning Paint use a sponge or cloth saturated with the solution. It will leave the Paint bright and uninjured. The repeated use of it on painted wood tends to make it glossy.
